EXACTLY AS STATED.

The Columbian is splitting hairs when it objects to the word "eliminated" as describing the act of the government in omitting an anti-Chinese clause in the agreement with the C. P. R. Co., in regard to the construction of the New Westminster branch. If it refers again to our article, it will see that we quoted the word as used by another and we stated in italics that the "proposed" agreement did not contain any clause of that kind. But it goes further than hair-splitting when it says:

"It is equally astray, we believe, in saying that the government promised to insert a Chinese clause in the agreement before it was signed. The clause relating to the New Westminster branch was inserted in the agreement at the last moment, and we believe it was generally thought that the Chinese clause in the agreement applied to both extension and branch."

This is more than equivocal—it is untruthful. If the Columbian will refer to the files of the Victoria papers of that date he will find that our statement is correct. The report of Mr. SMYTHE's remarks on this point are not very full in the Colonist of that date; but the following remarks are credited by that journal to the gentlemen named:

Mr. Beaven.—"The Hon. leader (of the government) had stated that he intended to introduce a clause to exclude Chinese. This did not go far enough, but it should also exclude them from being employed in the maintenance of the work."

Mr. Galbraith.—"The exclusion of Chinese was a step in the right direction and he would favor the delay to exclude them."

Mr. Duck.—"He took it for granted that the Chinese would be prevented from working on the extension of the road."

As to the statement that the clause relating to the New Westminster branch was inserted in the agreement at the last moment (meaning just before ratification, we suppose) we refer the editor to page 386 Sessional papers, 1885. Will our contemporary be honest enough to place these facts before his readers? We will wait and see.

OUR PILOTAGE LAWS.

The recent arrival of the powerful tug "Mogul," full descriptions of which have already appeared in the columns of THE TIMES, naturally makes our home pilots and tug-boat owners ask themselves: "Where are we?" It is time, indeed, that some amendment should be made to the existing Dominion Pilotage Laws if a tug built altogether by our friendly cousins can come into the Royal Roads, carry off one or two full rigged vessels, and pay not one cent either for entrance or clearance. The "Mogul," is owned, partly we understand, by the Tacoma Saw Mill Company, partly by GRIFFITHS & Co., of San Francisco, who have their representative at Tacoma, and partly by English capital. But she carries the American flag and in the case of the ship "Belle of Bath" and the Emma T. Crowell there is a clear demonstration of how happily Uncle Sam whittles his wood, adapts his laws and shuts out Messrs. DUNSMUIR & Co., the owners of the tug Alexande, built by stalwart British Columbians, the MCALLISTER Brothers. Some of our pilots have asked whether Victoria can return the deal, but vivid experience tells us that we cannot. Our tugs have paid to find that out. But that there is something "rotten in the state of Denmark," and that that state is British Columbia cannot be denied. Mr. EDGAR CROW BAKER, M. P., is the representative who should see to these trifles. He desired on a political occasion to die wrapped up in the Union Jack. Why does he not now, instead of gallivanting down in Mexico, conserve the interests of British Columbia pilots and assist in securing to them their fees, which the "Mogul" managed to skip?

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

"Who Adam was" has been definitely settled by the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church which has recently made the following pronunciamento on the evolution question. It was carried by a vote of 138 to 13. "The church remains at this time convinced that the Scriptures, as truly and authoritatively expounded in our confession of faith and catechism, teach that Adam and Eve were created body and soul by the immediate acts of Almighty power, thereby preserving perfect race unity; that Adam's body was directly fashioned by Almighty God without a natural animal parent of any kind, out of matter previously created out of nothing, and that any doctrine at variance therewith is a dangerous error, inasmuch as by the methods of interpreting scripture which it must demand, and its consequences of which, by fair implication, it will involve, it will lead to a denial of the doctrines fundamental to faith.

Ormonde, a great horse, won the Derby. His father had accomplished the same meritorious act before him. So had his grandfather. In fact, he is the representative of a long line of famous ancestors, and perhaps he is greater than any of them. He is a model for the rising generation, man or beast.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

CHURCH AND DISSENT.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I read with great interest the reply of "Scrutator" to my remarks upon your article on this subject. I am sure he will not take it as in a mere spirit of cavilling, that I reply to some of his statements, for they appear to almost expect a rejoinder.

I. The Queen is not at the head of the Scotch Church any more than she is the head of the Irish Roman Catholic church. Neither of these churches acknowledge her supremacy. The one denies that there can be any earthly head, the other confesses only the supremacy of her chief Bishop, the Pope.

II. Why should it be "far from complimentary" to the Anglican church that the Queen should manifest a decided liking for the Scotch Presbyterian service? You do not mean all other forms of worship by preferring one, even though you are of the blood royal.

Supposing that by education and early association you become ardently attached to the Scotch Church, is that to say that you stigmatize the Anglican as something contemptible? It is well known that many tender associations and warm friends in Scotland have enlisted the sympathies of the Queen in its national church.

But as for the plan which was adopted to enable her to hear Dr. Guthrie, that was much the same, I take it, as the method employed when Sanger's circus, or any other performing troupe exhibit at Windsor. If Dr. Guthrie knowing the conditions, was content, I have nothing to say to it.

Apart from this, I can really see no objection to a sovereign "going to a dissenting church" if he be a dissenter. Why should the liberty of the subject be denied the sovereign? James II. was a dissenter, as I have remarked before, and kept a dissenting chapel for himself, and would have been permitted to continue to do so, had he not wished to undermine that very liberty which he himself enjoyed.

One more word as to Durham degrees and the licenses granted by theological colleges, which "Scrutator" persists in classing together. A degree granted by a university, whether Oxford or Cambridge, Durham or Dublin, London or Manchester, implies the possession of a liberal education. A license implies a special training in the particular subject to which it has reference. If a man has the former qualification and is ordained a bishop, it may be assumed that he has shown proof of possessing the latter also. The converse of course, does not necessarily follow. Vicars frequently wish to have men as curates whose education is vouched for by a university, and often, no doubt, show a preference for those who come from the ancient seats of learning. But neither is there that offensive exclusiveness in this matter to which "Scrutator" refers, nor is any such principle recognized in dispensing church patronage. A Durham graduate has no difficulty in competing with those of Oxford and Cambridge, provided he is the better man. Of course there are qualified fools as well as unprecedented sages in every sphere of life.

"Scrutator" is quoting from memory or hearsay from the Ecclesiastical Gazette. The advertisements to which he alludes are neither numerous or couched in those terms.

THE SETTLEMENT BILL.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The editor of the Colonist is badly affected by my position on the Settlement Bill; in fact the disease seems to have become chronic with him. I may here state that I was not in the House at all when the vote was taken on the Bill in 1883. It was taken near midnight. Hon. Mr. Smithe will no doubt recollect that I enquired of him if he thought a vote would be taken that night, and his answer was that he could not tell; and as there were a number of members, supporters of the Government, who had not spoken to the amendment, I was of the opinion that a division would not take place that night, and left the chamber for home. Now, sir, as the editor of the Colonist continues to misrepresent me on this subject after he has been informed that his statements respecting my actions are nearly all false, I challenge him to put up $250, and I will do the same, and if I cannot substantiate to the satisfaction of parties agreed upon that there has appeared, within the last week in the Colonist newspaper, a series of falsehoods given as my actions in connection with the said Settlement bill, I am willing to lose; and whoever wins shall distribute the $250 among the charitable institutions of Victoria.

ALASKA NEWS.

The Ancon Returns from the North with Latest Advices.

The Ancon arrived at Nanaimo yesterday, bringing a budget of news from Alaska.

The grand jury has indicted forty-five people for selling and importing whiskey into Alaska.

Henry States, commissioner at Juneau, has been arrested and is on trial for not making proper returns of his office.

All the merchants are complaining very much of the treatment they received by the steamship Mexico, which made one trip while the Idaho was getting repaired. This complaint is that she did not remain long enough at different landings to give them time to do their business.

The Indians report a great quantity of wreckage of some unknown vessel being washed ashore on the south end of Prince of Wales Island. There were several barrels of butter and some ship stores washed ashore about three weeks ago.

It is reported that the grand jury was trying to have agents of the steamship company indicted for the transportation of tramps and cranks into the territory—such as Miss Margaretta Weppner, Miss Gilpen, Max Precht and McCaffery.

The U. S. steamer Pinta has been at Chilcat for about five weeks, and Capt. Nichols reports everything quiet with the Indians, and says that all the miners have gone to the Yukon for the last of a good summer's work. The mill at Douglas Island is running its full capacity day and night, and ships $83,000 in gold bars for the last month's work. They will do better in future, as they have struck some very rich rock on the line between their property and the Bear's Nest mine.

The new steamer Alaskan is on her maiden trip up the Stickeen river.

The schooner Leo, belonging to the Rev. J. G. Bready, landed about one hundred gallons of whiskey on her last trip to Alaska. The steamer Yukon arrived at Juneau May 27th.

A NANAIMO SENSATION.

A Victim of Abortion Dies.

On Saturday, D. Cluness, M. D., Coroner for Nanaimo district, impanneled a jury to hold an inquest on the body of the late Annie Embleton, wife of Thomas Embleton, who died at South Wellington on Friday night, under suspicious circumstances.

The jury viewed the body, and the coroner ordered a post mortem examination to be made by Drs. O'Brian and Jones. The inquest was then adjourned till Monday at 9 a. m., at Wellington. The inquiry started at a few minutes to 10 and was continued (with only one hour intermission) till midnight, when the case was submitted to the jury. The jury were out till 3.30 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the following verdict was rendered:

"We find that the deceased Annie Embleton came to her death by abortion, which produced peritonitis or inflammation, but we cannot find sufficient evidence to show us by what person or persons medicines were administered to procure an abortion."

A number of witnesses were examined at length and we here give a portion of the principal witness' deposition.

Wm. McNaughton Jones, sworn, deposed—Am a physician and surgeon residing at Wellington; I formed the post mortem examination in conjunction with Dr. R. O'Brian on the body of the deceased Annie Embleton at South Wellington, on May 30th instant; I have heard Dr. O'Brian describe the appearance found, and I fully corroborate his account; I would say that the cause of death was puerperal peritonitis; by puerperal peritonitis I mean inflammation coming on as a result of abortion or confinement.

I came to the conclusion that she was suffering from neuralgia; I gave her Bromide of Potassium and Aconite mixture; I saw her again on the 14th May; she said she was not much if anything better; she told me that she had discontinued taking the medicine as it made her sick; I told her to lessen the doses and to shorten the intervals between them; her husband called me into the next room and he told me he did not think my medicine would do her any good—that he thought her trouble was more mental—that she was in the family way and wanted to get rid of it; she said she was afraid of going to the full time as she would not live through a confinement and the doctors in her previous confinement had told her so; I thereupon remarked to him that it is no good for her to speak to me as I had too much respect for my age to begin that sort of work now; I remarked I do not want 15 years in the penitentiary, nor do you Tom; he said with emphasis, no indeed I don't; we then went into the next room and the conversation ended.

The case seems to be shrouded in mystery and the evidence fails to compromise anyone.

A Trader Gives Away a Secret.

A trader who was fortunate in giving credit was asked the other day by a confrere, who, being less clever, always had a lot of failures on his hands, the cause of his success, and he replied: "When a new customer asks me for credit, if upon taking advice I feel justified in giving it to him, I subscribe for the local paper of his place and I study closely the way he advertises. In the first place, this investigation shows me what profits he realizes on certain articles, and so indicates whether my customer works on good basis or not. Beside this result, which can not, however, be always exact, in view of the sacrifices that are made in some cases, I learn also from his advertisements what his standing is as well as if I opened his account books.

"As long as my debtor advertises energetically, his advertisements well got up, carefully looked after and in good position, he can get from me all he wishes—he is a good risk. But I discover that his advertisements are badly arranged and defective I set myself about settling his account and stopping his credit. The merchant who can not pay for his advertisements, and who allows them to stand in the paper as a contra-account and in a defective shape because he doesn't dare to take them out, is a dangerous customer. As for the man who throws away his money on advertisements in worthless sheets, simply because they cost less than those in a good journal, he is a hare-brained fellow who knows nothing about business, and who must be dealt with only on the terms of cash down."—Journal of Fabrics.

The Cowmen Pushing into Mexico.

It will be a surprise to most people to learn that American capital invested in the cattle industry has already pushed its way across the Rio Grande, and is seeking investment in the northern states of Mexico. The advantages of this region over even the southern portion of Texas are obvious, in the superior winter pasturage and milder climate, and great ranches have been recently purchased by New Yorkers, who count with reasonable assurance upon securing large returns. The Mexican Financier considers the movement so important that it regards the cattle interest as destined soon to equal if not surpass in importance the mining interest in the northern states of the republic, and it demands a repeal of the old law which prohibits the holding of real estate by foreigners within twenty leagues of the frontier, together with other encouragements to the coming of outside capital.—New York Post.

The Jaguar Pulls Through Safely.

Fanny, the jaguar at the Philadelphia "Zoo," has just come through a serious crisis in her existence. She is 2 years old, and lately began cutting her second set of molar teeth. This is always a particularly dangerous period with animals in captivity, few passing through it safely, as death is caused by inflammation setting in. Fanny was carefully watched and tended by the keepers, and put on a diet of squabs, mutton and milk. She pulled through safely, but now another trouble has arisen. Her luxurious diet has made her fastidious, and she turns up her nose in scorn at her former food of horse meat, and howls for chicken.—Chicago Times.

Cheap Dinners for London Children.

Princess Christian, in view of the extent of the distress in Windsor, is very anxious to organize some cheap dinners for children, and has invited several women to assist in the carrying out of this beneyolent object. The mayor, besides allowing the use of the Guildhall, has consented to act as treasurer to the fund, to which the Prince and Princess Christian, Princesses Victoria and Louise of Schleswig-Holstein, and several women and men have already contributed. The Rev. Mr. Tahourdin of St. George's chapel is the secretary.—Chicago Tribune.

To-day's Despatches

HOME RULE FOR SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, June 4.—The Highland Reform League, at a meeting last night, adopted resolutions favoring Home Rule for Scotland, and establishment of a separate Scotch legislature.

THE PLUMED KNIGHT.

LONDON, June 4.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting on Blaine's correction of the report of his Portland speech, says it is quite in accordance with Blaine's character to hurl insults and retract them. Blaine is a public man, whose support is almost miscredited. He is now posing to gain the nomination of the next Republican convention to the Presidency. If he succeeds, it is pretty safe to say, America will repeat the rebuff it gave him two years ago.

THE TIMES ON BLAINE.

LONDON, June 3.—The Times, commenting on Blaine's Portland speech, says that Blaine may or may not catch the Irish vote by performances such as that of Tuesday's speech, and so win a prize which fully as much on personal as on political grounds has been snatched from him once and again; but we refuse to believe that his ignorant and presumptuous cant presents the honest and independent opinion and reflection of the Americans. It is peculiarly absurd that he should pose as the advocate of a plan which he supposes, quite wrongly, of course, would place Ireland in the position of a State of the American union. He has been conspicuous for the same reasons which now make him a flatterer of the Irish in the bloody shirt campaign against the Southern States, and should they now attempt to deprive the negroes of their suffrage he would be the first to favor a settlement by the armed interference of the central government. His history is almost on a par with his recent orgy, which deserves to be classed with Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt's latest contribution, whereon Lecky has something to say. What Lecky has to say is contained in another column of the Times, in a form of a letter; this is a criticism on Sir William's argument, that the Home Rule measure, prefaced by Gladstone, aimed at a revival of Grattan's Irish Parliament. Lecky says the argument is absurd. Grattan's Parliament, Lecky contends, placed the government of Ireland in the hands of Protestant generals, who were bound to Irish connection by the closest ties of interest and sentiment. They were, adds Lecky, pre-eminently representatives of property, whose political power it has been Gladstone's steady object to destroy. To effect his scheme would be to throw the government of Ireland into the hands of men hitherto avowed enemies of both property and empire.

THE HOME RULE DEBATE.

LONDON, June 2.—In his speech last night Lord Randolph Churchill said everything possible had been said against Home Rule, therefore the opposition did not intend to prolong the discussion. There was nothing to prevent an immediate decision. The supporters of the bill were like drowning persons catching at straws; they would seize the least little attempt at argument to prolong the debate, and they would do so but for his reluctance to play into their malignant and sinister object. He always believed in the impracticability of the Home Rule problem, and he knew nothing more calculated to strengthen faith in British democracy than the remarkable display of independence on the part of the Liberals in refusing to follow the Premier, whose power has not been equaled since the days of Chatham. This demon of disorganization which Gladstone summoned would probably destroy the Premier and his government together. The Conservatives must exercise the utmost care in order that diffident Liberals may not suffer by their action at the next election. On the other hand, the followers of Gladstone must be allowed no quarter; they would have to fight for their political lives as they never fought before.

CONFIDENCE IN GLADSTONE.

LONDON, June 3.—One hundred nonconformist ministers of Derby and Nottingham have signed an address of confidence in Gladstone's Irish policy. Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, one of the signers, has written a second letter in which he asks if it is impossible for those desirous of the welfare of Ireland and the unity of the empire to devise a more acceptable scheme. "I cannot," says Spurgeon, "look forward with complacency upon the possibility of Ulsterites being abandoned to the established Irish Catholic church, yet they are by no means the greatest evils we foresee in the near future should the suggested policy become a fact."

A NICE HAUL.

CINCINNATI, June 4.—The Vanwert, Ohio, National Bank received yesterday by U. S. express, from the Union National Bank of this city a package purporting to contain $10,000; but when opened it was found to be filled with cotton, pasteboard and railroad advertising bills. The package should have reached Vanwert on Wednesday. The money clerk who received it here says he sealed it with green wax. The way bill for Vanwert on Tuesday night had a package marked short. When received the package was sealed with red wax. A delay of 24 hours in transit is not yet explained, but will doubtless give a clue to the robber.

MURDERED FOR POLITICS.

BOONVILLE, Ind., June 4.—John S. Gentry, while under the influence of liquor, got into an altercation with Dr. Agee, yesterday afternoon and cut the latter's throat. Agee died in five minutes. Gentry was a Democrat and Agee a Republican. A political dispute was the occasion of the murder. Agee is brother to the Lieut.-Governor of Nebraska.

SERVED THEM RIGHT.

WINCHESTER, Va., June 4.—Ives Housley, and Tably Banks, both colored, were hanged here this forenoon. They killed a youth named Joseph McFaul in November, 1884, on the occasion of a political demonstration, for no known cause.

SCOUNDREL HANGED.

LEBANON, Tenn., June 4.—Jim Baxter, colored, was hanged this morning for killing an aged woman, named Lane, last November for the purpose of robbery.

FAILURES.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The business failures for the last seven days throughout the United States and Canada were 187.

—Pendray & Co's Oatmeal Toilet Soap is gaining in favor every day. *

CLEVELAND'S MARRIAGE.

Disappointed Curiosity—President and Wife at Deer Park.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Nearly 2000 persons, principally ladies, entered the White House grounds to-day in the hope of being able to inspect the floral decorations and particularly the Blue Room, where the marriage was solemnized last evening. They began to arrive about 8 o'clock and continued to come until afternoon. All, however, were disappointed and none were able to get further than the main entrance. There their progress was arrested by doorkeepers, who informed them that the house was closed for the day and orders issued by Col. Lamont to admit nobody except on public business. A number of workmen were engaged from an early hour removing plants and al floral decorations and cleaning up the house generally. This work consumed several hours, but was fully completed by one o'clock, and there was nothing left in the general appearance of the rooms to indicate that the President's wedding had occurred but a few hours before. Most of the flowers used in decorations were distributed among the city hospitals.

DEER PARK, June 3.—President Cleveland and bride arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning and are domiciled in one of the cottages to the hotel. There are but few persons here as there was no knowledge that the bridal party would come here. The President and Mrs. Cleveland are sojourning very quietly. A large influx of visitors is looked for as soon as it is known that the wedded couple are here.

CAGED FOR TEN YEARS.

How a Secluded Farmer Confined His Crazy Daughter in a Cage.

WYSOX, Penn., May 26.—Samuel Case, 80 years old, is a farmer in comfortable circumstances, although he lives on an isolated farm about twenty miles back through the woods from this village. About twenty-five years ago his daughter Phoebe became deranged through overwork on the farm and about the house. Her parents would not have her placed in an asylum. She roamed at will about the premises, and the family lived so far away from others that her case was known to only one or two persons outside, and nothing seems to have been thought of it by them. A week or so ago a citizen of the county had business in the neighborhood, and on the trip he stopped at Case's to make some inquiries. While there he was curious to learn what was a building standing alone by itself 150 feet from the farm house, with a window heavily barred and a door locked with a heavy padlock, could be put to. The building was not more than ten feet square. The farmer gave him no satisfactory answers. The gentleman went away, but by a roundabout way returned to the building and gazed in through the barred window. He saw a sight that sickened him. Lying in a box of straw, with little clothing on her person, and surrounded by filth that emitted a frightful stench, was an old woman, gaunt and hollow-eyed, with matted gray hair covering her head. The discoverer then hurried away, but at another house, some miles away, inquired what it was he had discovered, and was told that the woman was Case's crazy daughter, as related above, and that ten years ago she had become unmanageable, and her father had built the outbuilding and confined her there, since which time she had never stepped out of doors. This information was at once forwarded to the State Lunacy Commission, and Dr. A. J. Ourt, of that commission, visited Case. The old farmer at first refused to open the building in which his insane daughter was confined, but finally unlocked it. A cage, made by fastening poles upright from the floor to the ceiling, was fenced off in one corner of the building. In that, huddled on her box of straw, the unfortunate lunatic was found. She raved wildly when disturbed. For ten years she has been nourished by food placed on a block outside the cage where she could reach it. She had lived there winter and summer, with no bed but her box of straw, and no clothing but one scant garment, and no covering but an old quilt. Case said he had kept her there because he could not afford to pay her expenses at an asylum. A physician who had attended the Case family for years knew all about the woman's confinement in the cage and never reported it to the authorities. The woman's mother died five years ago. The lunatic has been removed to the County House.

DEFENCES FOR ESQUIMALT.

OTTAWA, June 3.—Before parliament adjourned yesterday, and while the vote appropriating $25,000 for military works in British Columbia was taken, Sir A. Caron explained that the object of the measure was to provide extensive earthworks and other military defences which would cost in all about $100,000. The Imperial government proposed to furnish guns, torpedoes, etc., which would cost from $125,000 to $150,000. The purpose which the Imperial government had in view was to make Victoria and Esquimalt imperial stations on the Pacific ocean. The graving dock is now being constructed at Esquimalt, toward which the Imperial government contributed $240,000. When these works are finished Esquimalt will be one of the most important military stations of the empire.

A CALIFORNIA PIONEER.

DENVER, June 2.—Hon. Frank Tilford, a prominent California and Nevada pioneer died this evening of congestion of the liver. Mr. Tilford went to San Francisco from Kentucky in 1845. While in California he was elected state senator and held many other public offices. During Buchanan's administration he was appointed U. S. Attorney for Utah, and distinguished himself in the prosecution of John D. Lee, of the Mountain Meadow massacre horror. He came to Denver in 1860, and held an enviable position in the Democratic party and the Colorado bar. He drafted the city charter of Denver, and at the time of his death was serving a term in the state senate.

MINE DISASTER.

DENVER, June 2.—A Leadville special says: A cave-in occurred in the Col. Sellers mine, in California gulch, in day, in which Joseph Pretti, Lewis Miller, H. Hitchcock and Louis Pratt, four miners, were caught. The men were working in a slope 300 feet high, putting in timbers, and a heavy mass of ice caved in upon them filling the slope. A gang of the men are working which will the energy of despair, trying to recover the bodies.

No other preparation so concentrates and combines blood purifying, vitalizing, enriching and invigorating qualities as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Quality should be considered when making comparisons. *

POLITICAL

The workingmen of Nanaimo have placed a full ticket—two candidates—in the field, in opposition to Mr. DUNSMUIR, the representative of wealth and monopoly, and Mr. RAYBOULD, the representative of nothing in particular. The gentlemen selected are Messrs. SAMUEL H. MYERS and JAMES LEWIS, and in a joint address to the electors they briefly epitomize the reforms to which they stand pledged. Their platform is undoubtedly a very broad one, and where within the range of practical politics is worthy of the earnest consideration of every elector in the province. And with one or two exceptions, there is nothing impracticable in the demands of the workingmen of Nanaimo or Victoria, and in a few years hence, when a growing agitation compels recognition, the only surprise will be that they were not sooner conceded. For our part we cannot understand how it would be possible to carry out a law that required a representative to resign when his views ceased to be in accord with those of his constituents. No honorable man would continue to retain the position after he had become convinced that a majority of the electors were opposed to his views; but unfortunately all politicians are not honorable men. A law that will not only compel a resignation, but provide for proving the existence of a divergence of views between the elected and the electors, is, we are afraid, an impractical and utopian proposition; but if it can be shown to be feasible it unquestionably can be shown to be just. The land laws, and the regulations by which they are administered, are naturally a subject of deep interest to the toilers of this and other lands; and the candidates for Nanaimo have declared their opposition to the system by which large blocks of land pass into the hands of corporations, "most of it by fraud," and "the prohibition of the possession of land by foreigners and non-residents." They advocate protection to the workingmen against cheap labor, a lien law and the right to collect wages without cost in the courts, the establishment of an arbitration board between employees and employers, the establishment of a University for free education, payment of jurors and the repeal of professional and other monopolies. Briefly stated the foregoing are the views which these workingmen candidates stand pledged to support, and there is to be said in their favor even by those opposed to them, they have principles. DUNSMUIR and RAYBOULD—especially RAYBOULD—are two political negations, who have been members, the one because of his large business interests and the other because he had no particular interest in anything, and between the two it was hoped a fair average would be struck. The workingmen's candidates may, or may not, succeed. They would certainly have shown better tact had they nominated but one candidate and joined their forces in the common cause against the corrupt, monopolizing government with Mr. McKENZIE, or some other opposition candidate. Their object is to elect their men, and to accomplish that the safer plan would be not to bite off more than they can chew. However, we sincerely hope they may succeed in redeeming Nanaimo.

PROFESSIONAL POLITICS.

The public are told that Mr. CHAS. WILSON left this morning for Barkerville, "on professional business." This means that Mr. WILSON is a "professional politician," as his business is to buzz the electors of Cariboo in reference to his re election. Mr. A. E. B. DAVIE also left by the morning boat for Lillooet, where he will spend some weeks coaxing, cajoling and coercing the "free and independent" back to their allegiance to the government candidates. From the most reliable information received from the constituencies, both gentlemen are required on the ground if they would save their bacon at the coming election. The ALLEN-DAVIE sale has disgusted the people of Lillooet, and in Cariboo, Mr. WILSON's abilities and services are not considered so great as to counterbalance the fact that he is an absentee and place-hunter. The probability is that both gentlemen will be chilled to the marrow by the coolness of their receptions.

AN ACT OF INJUSTICE.

For purity, for sublime innocence, for the sweet and still waters that run deep, commend us to the saintly editor of the Colonist. A man beyond reproof, the acme of all that is loveable, the pungent in the acerbity of political life. The great benefactor of those on whom his journal has for years past lived, tries to mingle with the vanguard of the city and tells his readers that the recent action of the city council relative to the appointment and almost immediate dismissal of the city gaoler was an act of justice! We agree with our sapient contemporary in one respect, and it is not often we do. But we are open to conviction, if conviction needs be. It was an act of justice to appoint the candidate HENLEY to the position of gaoler when a majority vote of the City Council called for it. It was an act of justice to confirm him when the minutes of the meeting were adopted by the unanimous vote of the Council, but it was an act of INJUSTICE on the part of the editor of the Colonist to do that man an injury and to attempt to nullify the majority vote of the Council by his half-digested resolution last Wednesday evening. If there be any secrecy in the ballot we ask by what manner or right has any editor of a paper to say how Councillor This or Councillor That voted? Does the ballot exist, or shall we in future have our voting as Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD proposes to have it for the Northwest territory at the coming Dominion elections? Saint DAVID, of the Colonist, says Councillors STYLES and BARNARD voted for HENLEY, the gaoler-elect, on the first decision. How does he know? Is it a coalition, or has the jackdaw of the Colonist the right to peep and peer into and repeat that which is supposed to be a matter of fides. It is not very difficult to understand why on this trivial vote, Coun. BARNARD changed his first vote. A listener in the auditorium could have heard Saint DAVID say: "Thanks FRANK," when the vote was taken to upset HENLEY, but of course that has no significance. The Colonist might just as well endeavor to throw dust in the eyes of the people as to attempt to empty the harbor with a pitchfork when he endeavors to make Victorians believe that there is even the slightest tinge of sincerity in its latest movements. The hired organ must think that the rest of the world goes blindfolded, and that he who runs cannot read. THE TIMES has not one word to say as to the respective merits of any of the candidates who applied for the position of City Gaoler. That is not the issue. British Columbia, and Victoria especially, is a fair field for all, and it is natural enough that those who have borne the heat and brunt of the battle in early days should wish to enjoy the emoluments to which their pioneer labor entitles them. But let us scan the material of which the City Council is composed, and do we not find that the majority of that body, pioneers in every sense of the term, cast their votes for a man in whom they believed they could repose confidence. We do not care whether his name was HENLEY or BINGLEY. The Councillors were there to exercise their discretion and they did it to the best of their ability. So it is too ganzy for the saint of the Colonist to so suddenly remember his old "friends" when it is well known that his paper has for many years past been only too susceptible to the Edgar, Leathers-Thorpe oil which soothes the saintly itching palm. As we said yesterday, the Council will attend to St. David's "peculiarity" at the next meeting.

CARIBOO DISTRICT.

There will be a fair sprinkling of government candidates in Cariboo district at the ensuing election and these gentlemen who in one way or another have existed from the hard earnings of the pioneer miner will doubtless attempt to make the constituency believe that all is honest and above board at James Bay, and that the lawyers have had nothing to do with a policy most detrimental and traitorous to all British Columbia. Mr. CHAS. WILSON will be a candidate, so we are told, but the Caribooites will see that he is too closely allied to his recent partner and through him to the Attorney General to cut clear of the machinations of the present government. In his private capacity Mr. WILSON is on all sides respected, but in politics he carries too big a bolus for Cariboo to swallow. In the lead, the stalwart in form and principle, the electors will return at the head of the poll ROBERT MCLEESE, a man who has independence enough, if not in loquacity, but in deeds to tell the Government what his district thinks of the "ring." Mr. Jos. MASON will also be a candidate. He is a pioneer trader of the district and a miner thoroughly acquainted with all the requirements of, what may be termed, a largely mineral constituency. Mr. COWAN will seek re-election and Mr. FERGUSON is mentioned as again soliciting the suffrages. The latter gentleman, when he last sat at James Bay, was not a complete success. He was what the Colonist would term, if it barked back, a C. P., and it is quite within the large range of probabilities that Cariboo will keep him at home.

The packing house of Armour & Co., of Chicago, has just executed a contract to supply the French government with 7,000,000 pounds of beef in cans, to be put up in the special can adopted for use by the French army. This is said to be the largest individual contract ever awarded to one firm in the meat packing industry.

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, anxious excitement, excess or imprudence in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation—followed by general derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and increased Costiveness, all of which are known under one head as Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. These cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield if the PILLS are aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Dyspeptics should know that the longer treatment of their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthful and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary palliatives all do permanent harm. The fitful activity into which the enfeebled stomach is spurred by "bitters," and alcoholic stimulants, is inevitably followed by reaction that leaves the organ weaker than before.

"Costiveness, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became so onerous AYER'S PILLS afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has since kept me all right." HERMANN BRINGHOFF, Newark, N. J.

"I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, and Headache, from which I had long been a sufferer. I found their action easy, and obtained prompt relief. They have benefited me more than all the medicines ever before tried." M. V. WARNOCK, 163 State St., Chicago, Ill.

"They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and vastly improved my general health." REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, Atlanta, Ga.

"The most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain." W. L. PAUL, Richmond, Va.

"A sufferer from Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, and Neuralgia for the last twenty years, AYER'S PILLS have benefited me more than any medicine I have ever taken." P. R. ROGERS, Redmore, Brown Co., Ind.

"For Dyspepsia they are invaluable." J. T. HAYES, Mexia, Texas.

PRINCESS CHARMIAN

BY ALISON.

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

"A great many of the greatest men who have ever lived have not been appreciated," De Roquencourt says, in his slow, grave, dreamy way, "or perhaps not until they have been dead a hundred years."

"It seems to me it is the best people who suffer," I answer, with a shrug. "Stupid commonplace men and women get on so much better. The brave and true die martyrs—generally speaking—or so it seems to me."

"Martyrs!" Charmian says, coming to the window. "Who is talking about martyrs?"

"Miss Coventry is growing philosophical in the light of the moon," the Count tells her, smiling.

"Have you ever wondered what the Empress Josephine felt when the King of Rome was brought to her by Napoleon?" Charmian asks dreamily. "One talks of martyrs; but what are a few moments at the stake compared with a thing like that?"

"Private feelings must give way when the good of one's country is in question," De Roquencourt says quickly. "Napoleon wanted to establish his dynasty. But I believe he too suffered—they say he was very much attached to the Empress Josephine."

"Would Josephine have given him up for the sake of France, Count de Roquencourt?"

"She would, if she were a true patriot."

Charmian shrugs her shoulders. The light of the moon, falling full on her figure in its long shimmering faintly-colored gown, bathes her from head to foot in its soft pale radiance; her face is a little raised, her great dreamy eyes looking deep into the clear opal-tinted sky. My heart begins to ache strangely as I look at her; a dim foreboding figure seems to stand behind her, indistinct as her shadow on the moonlit floor. I put out my hand and take hold of her, to reassure myself.

"Charmian, you must not linger any longer at this open window. Count, will you be kind enough to close it? And let me get you some tea or something—your hands are as cold as ice!"

But she shakes her head, refusing to allow the window to be closed. The Count hurries away for some tea, though she declares she will not have it.

"How softly the moonlight is falling all about the old garden at Tranquilla now!" she says, in the same odd dreamy way. "I can fancy just how it looks, Susan; can't you?"

"With the shadow of the standard roses lying across the broad walk, and every leaf of ivy on the old gables distinct as a photograph!"

"How happy we were then—you and I!"

"We shall be happy again there, Charmian—when you pay me that promised visit in the spring."

"In the spring!" she echoes vaguely.

"Tranquilla looks best in spring," I go on in quite a lively strain, "when the trees do not shut out the view altogether, as I the orchard is full of great white double narcissus—nobody has such narcissus as we have—and the corn-breaks are in the meadow. That is the time to see Tranquilla, before we are smothered in green leaves."

I am talking against time, hoping the Count will come back before she can ask me anything about Lord Lorraine, if she has it in her mind to ask me anything about him. But, though De Roquencourt is long enough away to have fresh tea made—or so it seems to me, waiting impatiently—she never mentions Lord Lorraine's name—never refers to him in any way, nor to the interview in the drawing-room—never asks me a single question about him, good or bad.

"I would rather think of Tranuilla as I saw it first," she goes on presently, in the same strange dreamy way, looking deep into the deepening sky. "But you must not fancy me there when you go back, Susan." You must never picture me to yourself coming down any of those long green walks, or gliding before you in the twilight, round corners or into shadowy places. I shall not haunt Tranquilla. I do not believe in ghosts; do you?"

"Not in living people," I answer cheerfully.

"Nor of the dead. The dead are at rest and quiet forever. Don't you believe that?"

How often I shall wish she had not said it! How often shall I try to pursuade myself that she meant nothing by that strange speech, which even here, holding her hand in mine conscious of her living, breathing presence, fills my heart with a presentiment of evil.

"Of course," I answer rather flippantly "It is only wicked people who cannot rest. Good angels will not come back from heaven—everybody knows that."

She shudders, and turns away from the window just as De Roquencourt comes up with the cup of tea, which, however, she will not touch. Five minutes later I see her with Dudley Probyn, talking in just her usual manner, though her cheeks have not regained their usual color, and there is still that shadowy far-off look in her eyes.

We dance in the larger drawing-room later on, and while we are dancing Lord Lorraine comes in just as coolly as if nothing happened, and looking very dapper in his plain evening dress, with a red camellia in his buttonhole. He does not come into my neighborhood, nor do I see him with Charmian except once, though I notice that her eyes follow him with a strange wistfulness about the room. That once is while I am pausing during a dance, standing for a moment, with my back to the curtained archway, between the larger and the smaller drawing-rooms, talking to the Count de Roquencourt, who is my partner. I hear Charmian's voice, very low and quiet, speaking in the inner room; I saw her pass through the arch with Lord Lorraine a moment before—I think at her instigation, for there was a rather uncomfortable, if not apprehensive, look on his face.

"This is your ring, Scarlett," I hear her say, quite calmly. "I meant to have given it to you before."

"Thanks," he answers coldly; and, with senses that are preternaturally sharpened, I know he has stretched out his hand to take it from her.

"We made a mistake," she says piteously—it is her last stake—"but it is all over—now."

"Yes," he' returns, in his cold, quiet, perfectly gentlemanlike way. "It was a mistake. I am glad you see it in the light that I—that we all do. I hope you will be happy with some one better suited to you in every way than I could ever hope to be. Was that all you wanted to say to me?"

"That was all."

"Then shall we go back to the other room?"

They come back through the archway together, Lord Lorraine slipping something into his pocket, Charmian quite calm and self-possessed, but with a look of such supreme anguish in her eyes as makes my heart stand still. But even while I look at her she begins to talk to Dudley Probyn with one of her old careless smiles, and I draw a long breath, hoping that the worst is over. And soon afterward Lord Lorraine pleads another engagement and goes away, and I am glad of it. His very presence in the room is hateful to me—the very sound of his hard, cool, unsympathetic voice.

"I cannot get a really good look at Charmain for the next half hour; there is such a crowd in the room. But her voice sounds much as usual, whenever I hear it, though she does not laugh at all, nor will she dance, though Dudley pleads hard for one waltz for the sake of "auld lang syne."

It is late when Charmian and I bid each other good night at the door of her room.

"You look tired," I say, putting my arms round her.

"My head aches," she answers slowly. "I did not sleep last night. But I shall sleep soundly to-night; I am so tired."

"I hope you may, darling. Charmian, shall you and I go down to Tranquilla to-morrow? I think the change would do you good."

She shakes her head, her hand on the lock of the door.

"But if it were only for a few days, Charmian—or for one day even?"

But she only shakes her head again, looking at me

"To think of it Charmian. You always slept so soundly there. And you look as if you wanted rest."

"And I shall rest," she says, with a sweet but rather determined smile.

"I will coax you to come to-morrow."

"To-morrow!"

She is standing close to me, looking with curious intensness into my face. I shall always remember how she looked as she stood there in her long mother-of-pearl gown, with filmy lace about the throat, and half-short sleeves, the candle in her hand throwing a strange kind of upward light on her face.

"Oh, Charmian—your ring! I had almost forgotten to give it back to you!" I exclaim, struck by a sudden recollection. It is a little pearl hoop, which I picked up while I stood at her dressing-table before dinner and slipped upon my finger laughingly, saying it was like one of my own.

"Keep it for me till—till I wake," she says, stooping forward to kiss me on the forehead. "Good-night, dear little child!"

"You will come to Tranquilla to-morrow, Charmian! You are so pale—I am unhappy thinking of you."

"Do not be unhappy—I shall be well to-morrow," she says, and with this assurance I leave her.

But at the same time I have quite made up my mind to carry her away to Tranquilla to-morrow. There are no associations there to trouble her—Lord Lorraine's baleful shadow does not darken the sunny old garden—we shall forget him there in the shadow of my apple-trees. So I think while I lie awake in the moonlight. And when I fall asleep I dream that we are standing there in the sunshine, Charmian and I, and that she has a great bunch of white narcissus in her hand.

TEMPETE DE L'AME.

Chill blow the winds around the wold,
Low moans the tempest at the door,
The night is dark and the dead leaf falls,
And memory sits and calls and calls—
The fair form comes no more!

Low burn the embers in the grate,
The shadows deepen in the room,
The lamplight flickers on the walls,
And memory sits and calls and calls—
The fierce hope hugs the tomb!

Loud calls the voices of the storm!
The tempest of the heart replies.
Upon the roof the rain drop falls,
And memory sits and calls and calls—
The old love, bleeding dies!

The whirlwind passes in the night!
At morn the sun again shall rise;
Then hey! for the gay and gilded halls
And hey! for the heart that calls and calls—
For bright are my new love's eyes.

The First One Cent Daily Paper.

It is not generally known that Horace Greeley edited the first 1-cent daily newspaper ever published in this or any other country. It was sold at one cent until near the close of its brief career, though its owner, Dr. Horace D. Shepard, was very desirous it should be put at that price from the start. Shepard got his idea from the rapidity with which he had noticed that anything and everything that cost only 1 cent was sold in Chatham street fifty old years ago. He had very little money; but he was so confident of success, if the thing was once begun, that he went to The Epirit of the Times office, where Greeley was then a young compositor, and asked him to be its editor. The clever typesetter declared that 2 cents was the lowest rate that would sustain a daily paper, and he supported his statements with so many solid reasons that The Morning Post appeared January, 1843, at the figure named. The bantling had a deal of ill luck, but still sold several hundred copies daily. On the third day of the third week it received its quietus, having been put off several days at 1 cent. The demand was so much larger that the owner believed that, if it had been sold at that price from the beginning, it would have prospered.

Francis V. Story, who was Greeley's partner, read the doctor a very severe lecture on the madness of his scheme. Indeed, everybody made the "I told you so" comment except Greeley, who tried to comfort Shepard, telling him not to mind what Story said. Nine months after the Sun was issued for 1 cent, and, as everybody knows made a fortune. The doctor is said to have planted the seed which produced that financial fruit. He had explained his plan to a printer, who repeated it to the proprietors of the new undertaking with a practical result.—New York Commercial Gazette.

The Ball that Wounded Hancock.

Dr. Louis W. Read, of Norristown, thus relates the circumstances of Gen. Hancock's recovery from his wound received at Gettysburg: "I was medical director of the Pennsylvania reserves, and just before the 1st of November, 1863, I came home on twenty-four hours' leave of absence. I called to see the general, who was in bed at his father's residence. I found him very much disheartened. He had grown thin, and looked pale and emaciated. He said he felt as if he was going to die, and that he had been probed and tortured to such an extent that death would be a relief. I endeavored to cheer him up, and as I was about bidding him farewell he said: 'Goodby, doctor; I may never see you again.'

"I had my hand on the door knob of his chamber when he said: 'See here, doctor, why don't you try to get this ball out. I have had all the reputation in the country at it; now let's have some of the practical.'

"He was lying in the bed with his wounded limb acutely flexed, and all the probing and been done with his leg bent at right angles. The ball had hit him just below the right groin, within an inch of the femoral artery, while he was sitting in the saddle with his legs distended. I went down to my office for a probe with a concealed blade, and on my return Dr. Cooper and myself succeeded in straightening the limb and placing it as near as possible in the position it was when the ball struck him. I inserted the probe and it dropped fully eight inches into the channel and struck the ball, which was imbedded in the sharp bone which you sit upon, called the ischium. In a week's time the general was out on crutches, and in two weeks more he attend a Masonic gathering at Odd Fellows' hall. I forget the caliber of the bullet, but it was a big Minie ball."—Philadelphia Times.

India's Wheat and Petroleum.

The railways in India are opening up such immense tracts of land suitable for the cultivation of wheat as to threaten to revolutionize the European trade in that cereal, and recent test operations made in the Bolan pass with facilitate the working of these roads with cheap petroleum instead of dear coal. They show that there is sufficient petroleum there of the best quality to suffice both as fuel for all the frontier railways and for illuminating purposes throughout northern India.

Judging, too, from experiences in America and in Asiatic Russia, other beds are pretty sure to be discovered in the adjacent district. Upper Burmah is also believed to be full of petroleum, and thus, almost simultaneously, the Indian empire comes into possession of two fresh sources of fuel supply—one at the northern extremity and the other far south. Some of the engines on the Pishin railway are already being adapted to burn petroleum instead of wood, and we may soon expect to hear of the former being used by the Indus flotilla.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The sidewalks and fences of Washington are almost covered with chalked requests to the public not "to shop after 6 p. m."

REQUISITION.

To R. Dunsmuir, Esq., M.P.P.

THE UNDERSIGNED, Electors and residents of Nanaimo District, wishing to be represented in the Provincial Parliament by gentlemen who we feel have the general welfare of the Province at heart, and believing from the large interests you have among st us, that your services will be of much value to this constituency, hereby request that you will allow yourself to be nominated as a candidate for the representation of this district at the next election, and we pledge ourselves to use our utmost endeavors to secure your return.

REPLY.

VICTORIA, 25th May, 1886.

TO MESSRS. J. WEBB, J. PARGETER, W. AKENHEAD and others.

GENTLEMEN:—Until the receipt of your numerously signed requisition it was not my intention to become a candidate for your district, for I felt that you might consider my time was so thoroughly occupied with my own business affairs that your interests could be better entrusted to other hands than my own. I cannot, however, disregard the requisition you have so kindly sent me, recognizing therein that whatever has been lacking in my effort on your behalf you credit me in the past with good intentions, and express confidence as to my conserving your interests in the future. I cannot afford to refuse compliance with the wishes of so many who are residents of a district in which I have spent the best portion of my life and in which they and myself have a common interest. I therefor heartily thank you for the nomination and cheerfully accept it, and if elected I shall do my best to promote the well being of your constituency.

I believe that the Government which I have supported during the past four years has materially advanced the prosperity of the Province, and while their efforts are continued in the same direction, I shall, if elected, render them independent support, believing such a course will be in the best interest of the country and in accordance with the view of the great majority of the whole people.

I am Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
R. DUNSMUIR.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

While the TIMES is always prepared to give publicity to the views of correspondents on any question of interest to the public, provided facts are given, couched in unobjectionable language, we wish it to be understood that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by the writers thereof.

Nor can we give room to duplicates of letters that have appeared in our contemporaries either in this city or elsewhere in the province. Correspondents, therefore, will save time and trouble in preparing such for THE TIMES, as they will be rejected.

Our space is valuable, and brevity, as far as possible, should be observed in writing on any topic, and on ONE SIDE of the sheet only.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—The Nanaimo Free Press has a new dress and looks as clean as a new pin.

—If you want a modern building, have your plans made by Fisher the Architect.*

—Ice cream freezers at E. G. Prior's, Government street. *

—In the two mile race at Beacon Hill, Sehl's horse beat Ryan's by about 200 yards. Purse, $60.

—The Sal Soda and Washing Powder manufactured by Pendray & Co., is the best in the market and cheap, too. *

—Delightful weather to-day, the thermometer standing 70° in the shade at Frank Campbell's corner.

—If you want an article that will give you satisfaction every time, try Pendray & Co.'s Blue Mottled Soap. *

—The Queen City band will attend the race to-morrow and discourse sweet music.

—Lake Ice for sale at J. Baker's, Pembroke St., above Douglas. Telephone Call No. 12. *

—The steamer Teaser will now check baggage to Burrard Inlet, New Westminster, Ladner's Landing, Hope and way ports. *

—Mr. S. D. Pope, M. A., has been conducting the examinations for promotion and entrance to the high school at New Westminster.

—T. J. Jones, L.D.S., has removed his dental rooms over the new Bank of British Columbia, corner of Government and Fort streets. Telephone Call No. 507.*

—Collections at the port of Nanaimo during May were as follows: Import duty, $2,948.98; sick mariner's dues, $132.65; petroleum inspection, $2.50; total, $3,084.13.

—Sixty Chinamen left on the Rithet this morning, their destination not being definitely known, but the major portion are probably bound for the canneries on the Fraser.

—The Amity base ball club held a meeting last night, but nothing particular came up for discussion. They expect a challenge from the Portland ball tossers in a few days.

—The leader in the progress of invention for over 24 years, the envy of the trade and the boast of its buyers, THE LIGHT-RUNNING DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE. T. W. FLETCHER, Agent. *

—Peter Ollar, an Englishman, 67 years of age, who was found dead in his cabin at Nanaimo on Saturday, left a roll of bank notes amounting to $637 in his overall pockets. He died of apoplexy.

—F. G. Janes & Co., Real Estate Brokers, and Financial Agents, Vancouver, B. C., attend promptly to all enquiries about the terminal city; Free Reading Room for use of strangers arriving in Vancouver. *

—For the month of May the customs collections at New Westminster have been as follows: Duties, $6,685.85; other revenues, $2.14; total, $6,687.99. For the same month last year the collections were $3,815.29, showing an increase this year of $2,872.70.

—Toronto World: "The London Advertiser, is informed that a second edition of the Winhipeg boom is agitating Vancouver City. The amiable gentleman who is anxious to let you in on the ground floor may soon be expected in Toronto. Men with money had better stay in the cellar."

—The Guardian says: The demand for agricultural land in the New Westminster district continues to increase. A hundred men who came to stay are out making selections. Mr. William Shannon, of Clover Valley, sold his farm last Friday and received $5,500 in cash from Mr. Murphy, late of Ontario.

—The Seattle Press says of its base ballists: The base ball organization of this city propose to immediately set men at work fitting up the grounds at the race track in fine shape, and be prepared to give the Victoria nine a hard rub when they cross bats on the 19th. Practice days are Tuesdays and Fridays of each week.

—A Vancouver paper says: "Victoria people have the reputation of giving the cold shoulder to strangers, but it seems they sometimes make exceptions. Neil Henley was sworn in on Saturday last as gaoler of the city prison after a residence in the city of only four weeks." The later developments will probably change the opinion as to "exceptions."

—The suggestion made by the Standard this morning in regard to the Triumph band playing on Saturdays on the Government square is a good one. THE TIMES made the same suggestion when the Triumph was here before, but that was all that came of it. Our citizens would appreciate the question better if it was a reality.

—Chief Engineer Phillips is one of the few officials who is on time all the time. Engines and tanks, water for the sidewalks, fire wardens' inspections, he gets there all the same, and in accordance with the resolution of the City Council, he and his indefatigable Assistant Thos. Deasey have been sworn in special constables.

—The North Pacific brought freight for A Mayer & Co, A Ofner, A Bossi & Co, Blair & Co, C Stronss & Co, D McPhadden, E G Prior, Ewen & Co, G T Hopkins, G R Ashwell, Hasting S M Co, J B Ferguson, J H Todd & Co, J Wilson, Marvin & Titton, Matthews R & Tye, Neufelder & Ross, T Earle, Wm Eckert, R Abrams, A R Johnson.

—A rara avis has been shot at Burrard Inlet, which has been identified by Mr. Fannin as the little white Egret or Snowy Heron. This is the first record of this bird having been in British Columbia, but Mr. Fannin informs the Colonist that the result of his observations for the last four or five years goes to prove that the distribution of species on the coast is gradually shifting, and that within the above period quite a change in this respect has taken place in British Columbia.

—The young man Louis Lawson, charged with an attempt to murder Newlands at Granite Creek last fall, has been liberated on a writ of habeas corpus. The case was before two assizes without a hearing. The shooting was the result of recklessness on the part of Lawson while under the stimulating effects of liquor, and came very near proving fatal. We remember that a chum of Lawson, came down to Victoria and here shook the dust of British Columbia from off his feet. He was disgusted that in a free country a man could be arrested for such a trifling offence.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. E. W. Watkins, of New York, (International Secretary of the Association), delivered an eloquent and entertaining address last evening in the Methodist Church on the Association, its aim and mission. The Rev. W. W. Percival filled the chair. The lecturer showed conclusively that the association payed in that instead of young men being burdens on the tax-payers, it made them industrious, thereby becoming tax-payers. He also dwelt on the benefits derived by the business men of the community through the association, it being equal to an insurance society, giving employers more confidence in the integrity of the employees. The large audience appeared to be greatly interested in the address. At the conclusion of the address a unanimous vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Watkins. In replying, the gentleman thanked the audience for their kind attention and courtesy and congratulated the people of the city on having such a live and flourishing association, earnestly exhorting them to uphold their general secretary and officers, whom they had every reason to be proud of. An informal conference was held (after the meeting) with the members and friends of the institution, at which a number of questions were asked Mr. Watkins as to the best means of carrying on association work, he answering them to the satisfaction of those present.

THE STRAITS CABLE.

Another attempt is being made to put the straits cable in working order, and the government steamer, Sir James Douglas, with Mr. James Wilson, superintendent, of the Dominion telegraph service on board, is now lying at Dungeness waiting for a calm spell to pick up and replace the broken cable. The Puget Sound Telegraph Company have completed necessary work on their line, and so soon as the cable has been repaired communication will be re-established by this route. This cable has, thus far, been of little use, having been operated but a few months. Mr. Wilson is not very sanguine that it will ever be a success, as the tide currents in the straits are so strong that the stoutest wire is liable to be worn out in a short time. On the American side, there is an abrupt descent in the bottom, a short distance out, where it is proposed to put in a long piece of new cable, to guard against the possibility of any portion of it "hanging."

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

From a reliable source we learn that the idea of treating the members of both houses of the Ottawa parliament to an excursion to British Columbia has not been abandoned, as intimated by eastern journals. The railway company has tendered each member a pass, the understanding being that the politicians will travel in small parties and not all at the same time, in order that the accommodation, necessarily limited at first, may not be overtaxed. Some time after the opening of the road, and along into the fall our province will be visited by the members, in batches of half-a-dozen or so. The result cannot be otherwise than a benefit to British Columbia. Our eastern friends will receive a hearty welcome.

THE TROTTING MATCH.

At 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon Victoria Driving Park will be the scene of what promises to be one of the best contested matches of the season. The event will be 3 in 5, mile heats, for $500 a side between F. Reynolds' and Butler's chestnut gelding "Sheny George," and Capt. John Irving's bay mare "Fanny Irving." Considerable interest is evinced in the match and the mare has the call in the betting. It will be a race for all the reputation of the owners is worth and to ensure a good sight, conveyances will leave Frank Campbell's corner an hour or so previous to the starting time.

VANCOUVER NEWS.

We are in receipt of a copy of the daily Vancouver News, the second daily at the terminus, and published by Harkness & Ross. The fact that the gentlemen at the helm are practical men is evidenced by the neat typographical appearance of the paper, while the contents show careful editing and a correct appreciation of the wants of the public. It is quite useless to point out that Vancouver cannot support three journals because they are not established, as is usually the case, to fill "a long felt want" but in anticipation of the growth of the city, to which as yet no bounds can be fixed. We heartily wish the News a prosperous career.

FIRE IN MONTREAL.

A disastrous fire occurred early on the morning of the 27th, in the factory of the Royal Electric Lighting Company on Wellington street. The building is of solid stone, about sixty feet in height, seventy feet in depth, and extends from Queen almost to Prince street. It consists of four stories and a basement, and it was in the upper flat the fire originated. The volume of water poured in prevented the flames from spreading downward. The building was owned by Wm. Smith, tobacconist. Total damage amounts to about $50,000; covered by insurance.

LOW PRICE OF SUGAR.

A late dispatch from San Francisco, says the local sugar market is an enigma this year. Usually prices are the highest in midsummer, because the demand is the heaviest at that time. Local canners have been putting up berries and other fruits for some time and will be busier later on. In the face of this active consumptive demand, prices are usually low. This morning there was a further decline of ¼c. effected. This brings hard whites down to 6c; soft whites, 5⅞@5¾c; yellow, 4¾@5¼. These are the lowest figures ever known on this coast.

A RAFFLE.

The raffle of fancy needlework took place at Quamichan hall on Monday, the 31st day of May. The needlework was very handsome, and was given by Mrs. Rowbotham, the money to go towards a new organ for the Episcopal Church at Cowichan. The name of the prize winners were: 1st, Mr. T. Williams, Cowichan; 2nd, H. Fry, Quamichan; 3rd, S. Bednell, Victoria; 4th, Miss Skinner, Maple Bay.

HIS OLD TRICKS.

From a report of the proceedings of the New Westminster Council it appears that Mr. James Cunningham, M. P. P., is at his old tricks again. He uses the chain-gang to improve his own and his brother's property and the Council takes no proceedings against him. Mr. Cunningham would not remain in political life one moment if he could not feather his own nest. That is the sort of patriot he is.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. John McDonald, of Harrison, has been appointed a justice of the peace for New Westminster district.

Mr. Wm. M. Cochrane, is appointed a notary public.

There are still two or three eligible gentlemen in the province not yet appointed to the magistracy.

HIGH WATER FEARED.

A letter from Mr. P. A. Dunlevy, Soda Creek, says there is a greater depth of snow in the mountains than has been known for some years. He advises farmers at Sumas and along the river to be prepared for high water. At New Westminster the water is within about three feet of the great flood.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Messrs. M. T. Johnson and Brackman were passengers on the Amelia this morning.

X. E. B. Davie, C. Wilson, W. F. Woods, A. Nelson and J. Wise were passengers to the mainland on the Rithet this morning.

Ex-Councillor Boyd is still in England, but he will arrive during the present month and be on hand at the gathering of the clans.

At the Driard: Captain Mills, wife and two children, Port Townsend; W H Adams, Portland, Jno J Shaghnessy, San Francisco.

H. B. W. Aikman, Registrar-General of Dominion Titles, is in the city paying a transient visit. He will return to his temporary headquarters at New Westminster on Monday next.

Mr. George Bishop, who has recently visited Vancouver and taken in the situation there, will visit the "land o' cakes," leaving here next Monday. Mr. Bishop is well known to a plane-pushing and finishing fraternity.

Passengers by the North Pacific today: Mrs M E Vial and child, W F Ward, J H Bellinger, G W Scott, W H Jones, Miss H Warren, W F Mason, Mrs Gray, Capt Spencer, Capt Mills, wife and two children, A McDonald, D O Mills, L Rostein, 2 Chinamen, B F Kerr, W H Adams, A Hanson, V Quill, R Abrams, Wm Morley, Dong Gong, Miss Hoverchamp, Wm Stove, J J Schnansey and wife.

MARINE.

The bark Otago is at Nanaimo loading coal for San Francisco.

The Ancon arrived at Nanaimo from Sitka yesterday.

The ship Ocean King, which sailed on Wednesday, carried 4000 tons of coal for San Francisco.

COUNTY COURT.

(Before Sir M. B Begbie, C. J.)

Stevens vs. Coughlan—Action to recover the sum of $400 for wood delivered at Coughlan & Mason's brickyard in 1885. Judgment for the plaintiff, Mr. J. P. Walls for the plaintiff, and Mr. Mills for defendant.

THE CELESTIAL AGAIN.

Will the Mongolian never let go? Will he ever cease his iniquities in this province? Much of the valuable time of the City Police Magistrate was occupied this morning in the investigation of a charge against King Sing for supplying an intoxicant to an Indian. The information was sworn to by Officer Smith, who was appointed at the last meeting of the City Council, and he testified that he saw the Mongolian follow up the Indian and almost press the juice against his lips. The Indian turned Queen's evidence and the case was clear against King Sing and he will now sing to his delight in the confines of the cool—unless some of his to-la-co-chums put up $50 in lieu of his 3 months' city board.

Ah Sing, another almoned eyed child of the flowery kingdom, was charged with vagrancy, but was released from custody for the time being, and Shang Lee, held on remand for unlawful possession was told to go and sin no more. Thus the Celestial comes to the front in our criminal statistics.

OUR LOCAL PALACE.

Somebody has said that "no good can come out of Nazereth," but to-day we have had placed before us two most faithful sepia sketches made by Mr. Fred J. Saunders. One represents the canyon of the Homatcho river at the head of Waddington harbor, 15 miles from Bute Inlet. Those who have been there in the past decade can realize the stupendity of the timber and the avalanching rocks which embody the sketch. There is reality in the work. Another sepia sketch shows us the steamer Enterprise, "as she lay in the bay," Cadboro bay, whilst in collision with the steamer R P. Rithet. The collision took place in 1885, and every detail is faithfully depicted by the artist. Thus at least the "prophet at home" doctrine is capsized. To recognize talent is to see it.

A RELIC OF 1858.

Mr. McPhee, contractor, who has a force of men tearing down a portion of the Oriental to make way for improvements, was forcibly struck with finding a portion of the building bearing the front of a shop which existed in 1858, namely the sign of Curtis & Moore, druggists. It is in a wonderfully preserved condition, the signboard looking as if it was painted a week ago instead of nearly thirty years ago.

INLAND REVENUE RECEIPTS.

The following are the receipts for inland revenue for the month of May at Victoria:

Cigars	$1,235 55
Tobacco	666 80
Spirits	4,142 51
Malt	841 52
Malt Liquor	8·00
	$6,894 38

Increase over the corresponding month last year $323.85.

DESERTING FROM THE NAVY.

Happily, owing to the vigilance of the police and the officers on board H. M. S. vessels, there are but few cases of desertion in this port. But in the Police Court this morning Francis Bastable was charged with being a deserter. He admitted the allegation and, possibly, it was not altogether his fault that he got left. The Police Magistrate ordered that he be returned to the custody of his ship.

COMING TO VICTORIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4. The steamship Mexico, which sailed to-day, has the following passengers for Victoria:—Mrs. Dunsmuir and two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Miller, Mrs. Horton, G. Gowen, G. Farren, R. Broderick, Miss Matheson, Wm. Bates, W. Duck, M. P. Snowdon, Miss Cullen, Miss Collier, J. Farron, R. Adams.

LECTURE ON Y. M. C. A.

Mr. E. W. Watkins delivered an instructive address on the Y. M. C. A. and its mission in the Methodist Church last night, Rev. Mr. Percival in the chair. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered the eloquent lecturer.

A VALUABLE SHIPMENT.

Last Wednesday's consignment of sealskins, valued at $250,000, were shipped from this city for London, England. They went via the Northern Pacific railroad and filled three cars. Nothing small about this.

AQUATIC.

The sculling race between Geo. Bubear, of England, and Christian Nelson, of Australia, was rowed over the Thames championship course and was won by Bubear by two lengths. The match was for £100 aside.

THE SEALERS.

The sealing schooner Mary Taylor, Capt. Douglas, chartered by Carne & Munsie, brought in 130 skins, and the Mountain Chief, Capt. Jacobson, 420. Nearly all the sealers have gone to northern waters.

The Methodist Church Sabbath School Picnic on Dominion Day to Peddar Bay and return, $1 Tickets for sale at the Book Stores.

VANCOUVER NEWS.

(From the Advertiser.)

A pile-driver belonging to the San Francisco Bridge Company, got ready for operation yesterday at the Hastings mill wharf, and commences work this morning driving the piles for the C. P. R. wharf, opposite the new offices now being erected for the company, in the western portion of the city.

Mr. S. Brighouse met with a painful accident last evening. While springing the bank where the railroad track crosses the old False creek road, the sudden spring caused a fracture of the muscles in the calf of the left leg. He will probably be laid up for some time.

A DOG CASE.

This morning before Chief Justice Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie, the case of Burnsley vs. Pierre came up for hearing. The prosecutor alleged that he went into Mrs. Pierre's house to collect a small bill last March and the dog belonging to Mrs. Pierre jumped at him and bit him on the elbow causing a wound which had to be attended to by Dr. Milne. The suit was for $150 and His Lordship gave judgment for $25 and all costs involved. Mr. S. P. Mills for the plaintiff and Mr. Hy. Helmcken (Drake, Jackson & Helmcken) for the defendant.

THE CITY CENSUS?

A census-taker called at a house one day when all the members of the family were out except an only son, a boy of about 10, who was required to answer the questions put by this gatherer of facts. This he did satisfactorily until he was asked his mother's birthplace, which he answered he did not know. "Not know where your mother was born?" exclaimed the man. "Well, can't you guess?" "Guess yourself!" quietly answered the boy.

DANGEROUSLY INJURED.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach, prominent residents of Coupeville, Island county, near Port Townsend, while out for a drive, were thrown from their carriage. Mr. Leach is dangerously injured, and his wife's skull is fractured, making her recovery impossible.

The value of ostrich feathers has long been declining, until the price of prime whites has sunk from £50 to £10 per pound. Indeed, at a sale last month at Cape Town 1,620 pounds of mixed feathers only realized a total of £3,047, values having fallen 15 per cent. from previous sales. This serious depreciation may be attributed to various causes, among which, probably, glutted markets, the dictates of fashion, general depression, and previously exaggerated prices are the chief. The golden dreams indulged in by the Cape farmers a decade since have been rudely dispelled, and they are now eturning to their first love, wool-farming, which during the ostrich craze had been somewhat neglected.

Charlie Mitchell the prize fighter, is acting on his own authority in a libel suit for $10,000 against the Chicago News. This will be the hardest game to knock out that he ever encountered.
